SYMBOL OF A NATION UNITED!

From the youth, since its very beginning, the American heritage has been a challenge to youth. America has withstood life challenges—in the order of their appearance—simply because it is a Nation United.

We are a nation of free people who are open to the mind, follow our way of life, worship as we choose, embrace and challenge one another. We are a nation whose people reserve for themselves that right to challenge.

From the youth each outside challenger has been seen on his way, regretting his loss but convinced that we will not permit our sacred heritage to be marred. This challenge will be no exception. For America is United, determined to pay no toll for the freedom on the Pacific and any other aggressions that may arise. It will pay in the only kind of exchange that the aggressors understand.

Our President has outlined the plan, backed with traditional American responsibilities our open and above board stand. There will be no compromise. Our standards will prevail. Our symbols will remain forever aloft for the enemy to ponder and to flee.

Like all Americans, we hope in our small way to do one part. In the spirit of all Americans, we will endeavor to maintain our own traditional high standards and to make a sincere effort to serve the public with the same quality entertainment as is the part. We shall make an honest effort to accept no bribe and to prove ourselves worthy to tread this revered soil. "We thank God for a country in which we can still thank God."

Chico Marx Out In Front of a Sack Swing Ork

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—Garry Shandling left his job as an NBC comedy writer Jan. 26, to join the Playhouse Theatre Company, according to his publisher step-mother, Joyce Shandling, who lives in the shadow of the Hudson river. Shandling, 34, is on the air and currently plays his lead role in Seinfeld (the most successful paid-up comedy series in years).

Booked by William Morris Agency, there has been some talk about it being the Olsen twins' first film. The Wrecking Ball is the story of a 19-year-old girl, Jennifer, who is a very shy, very nervous, very insecure person. She's a virgin, and she's a virgin because she's a virgin.

Chase (left) is, of course, not the type one would expect to find in front of a "silly" show. But it proved to be somewhat ironic that he is a big name in show business, not as an actor, but as a producer. ## Freak Quality of Band Biz Is Making It Tough To Size Up a Post-War Program for Musikers

NEW YORK Jan. 17.—After weeks of waiting for the American Petroleum Institute to announce its findings, you probably guessed, almost certainly you were right, thousands around the globe when it does arrive. And the result is a shock and confusion it is hard to believe and no way of doing so. And yet it is the fact that in the future, many who had to be in the state of mind, should be made day by day.

Another factor is the Shadow Network's relationship with the Islamic Republic of Iran. The Shadow Network has been accused of receiving financial support from Iran, which has been a source of controversy. However, the Shadow Network has denied these allegations, stating that it is an independent organization. ## "Remember Pearl Harbor"

A motive in time of war always needs a battle cry which will help to rally its citizens to defend the country against its enemies. In many cases the battle cry is put to music and a nation goes singing into the fray. Fortunately, our country today has many avenues for using the best songs to inspire its people to do their best and also to keep their courage up.

Fortunately, there are about 450,000 music boxes in places where people congregate to bring the nation's best patriotic songs to them at a time when they are in a mood to listen. Along with radio, the movies and other entertainment mediums, the chain of music boxes is doing its bit to help the great cause. The entire coin machine industry is helping to remember the battle cry.

The incident of Pearl Harbor served to challenge the nation and to bring about a quick meeting of its forces that probably would not have come about in any other way. The inspirational workers of the nation also began their important job of giving expression to the thoughts and emotions of the people. Several songs have already been written that will contribute to the fighting spirit of the country.

While the nation is being stirred to action, there are also calm moments when every citizen needs to remember what led to Pearl Harbor and what we may do to correct the conditions that made such a surprise possible.

We must all stand up, at least a big majority of us, and accept our part of the blame. Pearl Harbor simply revealed how totally unprepared for total war the United States happened to be. The blame for this unpreparedness must be placed upon the majority of us, because any leader who came out boldly for total preparedness, even after the fall of France, was called a war-monger or branded as having detrimental ambitions. With such a mass resistance to total preparedness up to the beginning of 1941, and even later, it was impossible for the government and its leaders to prepare for war as it is conducted today.

The second big lesson to remember about Pearl Harbor is that things begin to happen when the nation unites to support its leaders. Until Pearl Harbor, every single move made toward preparedness was opposed and obstructed by powerful organizations, propaganda machines, partisan politicians and selfish interests. The wonder is that we made any progress at all. But since December 7 there has been a rush to support any and all plans that aid the nation and its allies.

It is easy to wish that people could use their heads in time and unite when there is opportunity to prepare calmly and wisely for attack. All that can be expected now is a lot of confusion and many mistakes. But the unity that now exists will help us as a nation to surmount all the confusion and to make up for the mistakes of the past. If we failed to make complete preparation, we can win a complete victory, and the enemy will be finally confused and not us.

Our days of preparation in 1939 and 1940 were completely dominated by selfish interests. Washington became a madhouse of special interests striving to gain some advantage or profit from the expanding industrial boom. This situation clouded many of the dangers that threatened the nation, so it is little wonder that we were surprised at Pearl Harbor. But as long as we remain free human beings there will always be that dominating selfishness that beclouds issues. The important thing is to overcome selfish interests by real patriotic enthusiasm now that we have met a surprise defeat.

Washington is still a madhouse and still has too many selfish interests trying to gain some advantage. Some of this could have been avoided had the nation read the signs correctly and started on real preparation early in 1939. The fall of France was a plain signal to the United States that trouble was ahead, but the majority did not want to see it. When we think of all the hasty steps being taken now, the priorities rush, the materials shortages, the confusion, let's remember what led to Pearl Harbor. That if we had started in 1939 to really prepare for total war much of the confusion would have been over by now and orderly production would be under way. In time we will get to it, but it is well to take time out now to consider some of the mistakes which have brought on our present over-worked industrial system.

The song we sing can be a great help in national unity. Courtesy from The Chicago Tribune.

New for 42 WURLITZER

VICTORY MODEL 950

It's a Wurlitzer Through and Through

Wurlitzer announces for 1942 one magnificent phonograph, the Victory Model 950—presents it to the Music Merchants of America with this pledge.

The Victory Model 950 is every inch a Wurlitzer!

Mechanically the equal of any Wurlitzer ever built, the eye-compelling beauty of this vivid Victory Model 950 exceeds by far in the brilliance of its Fluorescent Illumination the most superb Wurlitzers of the past.

We confidently predict it will set an all-time new high in earnings for you.

The Ralph Wurlitzer Company, North Tawanna, New York, Canadian Factory—RCA-Victor Co. Ltd., Montreal, Quebec, Canada

MUSIC FOR OVER TWO HUNDRED YEARS

FLUORESCENT LIGHTING MAKES IT THE MOST BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINATED PHONOGRAPH WURLITZER EVER BUILT

Triple glass pilasters lit with clear, uniform shades of cooling changing red-colored Fluorescent Illumination of the greatest intensity ever seen on any phonograph — yet such long consumes but 20 watts. Gay bubbles of liquid light dance up twin tubes between the pilasters. A brilliant grille of seven patterned glass panels and the top Pigeon of Pan panels glow with ever-changing colors. See the Model 950 in all its brilliant glory and you'll say it's the most beautiful Wurlitzer ever built.
